Lee Lee started her journey started in 2013 by riding a mountain bike, gradually moving to road biking in 2014 and falling in love with it. Since then, she has participated in multiple international riding events, which include Audax Thailand/Malaysia, Rapha Chiangmai, Rapha Bali, Powerman and Le-TAPE. Furthermore, to further her passion for cycling, she started her cycling jersey brand 7AM_KIT in 2020 sole objective is to give Malaysian cyclists what it is like to use high-quality yet comfortable cycling apparel that can also fit into the Asian market.

In Jan 2022, Lee Lee was diagnosed with Cervical cancer stage 3c. The cancer treatment started in Feb to August and lasted about six months. During the treatment, it has been a challenging journey where Lee Lee was required to cope with the chemo side effects while working on 7am_kit and a full-time job in an IT firm. However, cycling makes Lee Lee feel better throughout the chemotherapy journey by building up a stronger body and acting as emotional support throughout the treatment.

Cervical Cancer can be cured if detected early and treated promptly. Therefore, Lee Lee always recommends to her friends promptly to have regular medical checkups to reduce the risk of Cancer.

Thanks for the opportunity to participate in the cervical cancer awareness campaign organised by MMA. This will help create public awareness and provide the necessary support to those who need it. Together, we can save lives and create a brighter future for women and girls everywhere.
